WHAT "MY COUSIN VINNY" TEACHES US ABOUT CROSS-EXAMINATION AND OTHER TRIAL TECHNIQUES

WHERE:

ROOM 100

WHEN:

12:55 - 01:55

The 1992 Oscar-winning comedy classic "My Cousin Vinny" tells the tale of an inexperienced New York attorney who finds himself defending his nephew from murder charges in rural Alabama. Steve Moore will draw from this film lessons about how to try an IP case, interspersed with examples from his own trial practice of what to do – or not to.

STEVE MOORE

Steve Moore, Patent Litigation Partner at Kilpatrick, focuses his practice on patent infringement litigation in a wide variety of industries. Mr. Moore both defends companies accused of patent infringement and represents patent owners harmed by a competitor's infringement in pursuing patent and related claims. Mr. Moore also has experience in successfully coordinating global patent litigation, resulting in favorable rulings for his clients both in the U.S. and abroad.

Lunch is served for students staying for the entire presentation.

This event is open to current Berkeley Law students, Berkeley Law affiliates and BCLT law firm sponsors only.
